

The Lost Lovers

One day there was a cute couple ice skating on a chilly winter day. Their names were Jon and Rose. Rose is a professional ice skater and has had many experiences. Before Jon and Rose were about to leave to go back home, Rose tried doing one of her signature moves, she called it "The Rose spin." "The Rose spin" is where Rose jumps in the air and spins four times. When she came down from spinning, she heard a loud cracking sound, collapsed to the ground, and started yelling for help. Jon came running as fast as he could to her, and he grabbed his phone and started to dial 911.

Ten minutes had passed and finally the ambulance had gotten there. The paramedics started to get her up and take her to the ambulance truck and Jon ran and said, "It's okay, everything is going to be okay." They rushed her to the hospital as fast as they could. They said, "It was no ordinary injury she had fell and pushed her whole foot out of place, the only reason she fell is because her body was put into some strange stage of being in shock." They had taken her up to her room and told her to get some rest. Jon was very impatient and ran to her room and saw her, ran to her, and gave her a big hug. Rose said, "They said my body was in shock when I was falling to land, but that's what made me fall." Jon was so confused and said, "WHAT?!" She sighed in sadness. He said, "They did say you were going to be okay, didn't they?" She replied saying, "They said the only way they could find out if I'm okay is by running a few big tests."

Jon started crying in sadness and Rose did too. The nurses came in the room and said, "We need to take you to the emergency room quick apparently you hit your head really hard."

The nurses started running as they pushed her in a wheelchair to the emergency room, they laid her on a bed and said, "We will run you through this brain scanner really quickly and we will see what happened." A few moments passed and the test was finished, and they took her back to her room. The nurse came in and said, "We will have to wait until tomorrow to get the results." The next day had come, and the nurses all came running in yelling in a loud voice as they started to get her ready for surgery "HURRY!!!" Rose started crying and yelling and then she yelled, "WHAT IS GOING ON!" one of the nurses said, "You have a brain bleed and cancer in your brain." Jon said in a loud voice, "Wait WHAT!?" They said, "Sorry we have no time to explain we have to do surgery now!" As all the nurses rushed to the surgery room Rose started crying with tears rolling down her face. When they finally got to the surgery room, they put a gas mask that would make Rose fall asleep on her face. She quickly fell asleep, and they started to do surgery. Jon waited very impatiently in the waiting room. He started to have tears rolling down his face.

Four hours after, they came out with Rose on a bed, and she was still asleep. He said, "When will she wake up?" They said one to two hours. "She will be okay." said the nurse. He sighed in relief. A few hours later she started to breathe heavily, and he said, "Rose, Rose, ROSE!" She stopped breathing and he screamed. "HELP, HELP, HELP!!!" Nurses rushed over and said, "WHAT?!" He said, "SHE STOPPED BREATHING HELP, HELP!" They rushed her to the emergency room and started to do CPR and soon after one and a half hours they finally got her back breathing. She woke up feeling very dizzy and could not walk, she would need many weeks of rest and care. Jon ran extremely fast to her and gave her a huge hug and they both started crying and saying how much they loved each other. Jon said, "I thought I lost you!" Everyone started clapping as they hugged each other in relief. Turns out nothing can separate these two people, they love each other, and they will always be together. Also, it turns out they will never be lost lovers.